winter term 2021/22

GOALS OF A LAB

- Register in BASIS before 31 October for one of the following modules:
 - Lab Communication & Communicating Devices: MA-INF 3304
 - Lab IT Security: MA-INF 3229
- Get familiar with a topic within a limited time frame.
- Work scientific and practical.
- Prepare a written report of 5-10 pages and, if required, a Software documentation.
 - Have a look at the Seminar's Guidelines.
- Submit your work to your supervisor until 31 March 2022.
 - If there is no different agreement, the final submission is done via email to your supervisor
- Prepare a presentation of your work, ideally including a demo.
- Present your work in a presentation (oral exam) of ~30 minutes: April 1st 2022 times t.b.a.
- Keep yourself informed: Read the emails of the lab's mailing list.

GUIDELINES FOR LAB REPORTS

Guideline for the Composition of Master Theses, Seminar Papers and Lab Reports

1 Why?

This guideline for composing master theses, seminar papers and lab reports was inspired This guideline for composing master theses, seminar papers and lab reports was inspired by the observation that, in the process of their work, students often expeat the same nation that could easily be avoided. On this background, the idea for this guideline about much the intention to reduce your (and also, arone, our) time input, and works to with a set of techniques for composing scientific texts which have proven very effective for improving the presentation of contents as well as as their comprehensibility for the results.

1.1 The Purpose of a Lab Report

Preparing the report is an inherent part of every lab offered by our work group during the main study period. The report should give the reader a detailed picture of

- which task was tackled during the practical exercises,
- which challenges had to be coped with in order to accomplish the task,
- in what way and how well these challenges were mastered.

The report is not a protocol of procedures, i.e. it should not provide a detailed listing of all steps made in order to solve the problem. It is rather a documentation of d solution and should also motivate why this particular solution was chosen. ppropriate to also mention other possible solutions that were tried but lateron I for good reasons. However, the description of the implemented solution must

Purpose of a Seminar Paper

aper should summarize in short the vital aspects of a given subject. Since we text sources usually outnumbers the admitted paper volume by far, it is t the author to reduce the sources to the relevant facts. The paper should the author's own works and never be literally copied from the original text. the same a one words and never to merany copies the large translations ticularly applies to text sources in foreign languages: literal translations sy to recognize for the simple reason that they are difficult to read; apart y simply miss the point of the matter. One of the excuses for using literal y simply mass the point of the matter. One of the excuses for using literal that the original text could not be understood. If this is the case, rather ntor for help—that is what he is there for. Other popular excuses like as so excellent, I could not have said it better" certainly do not require
